Joe was a man of many words who never met a stranger and had a way of making you leave every interaction with him feeling the warmth and joy that radiated from within him. He loved nothing more than a motorcycle ride on a beautiful day or playing with his grandbabies who he “loved big bunches” and told them often.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the American Cancer Society. Or you can think of what Joe meant to you and a memory you shared and eat your favorite Little Debbie snack cake, his second true love.

Tri-City LLC Crematory Funeral Home is honored and privileged to serve the Bargett family. Online condolences may be expressed at www.Tri-CityLLC.com.

“ Joe was my older brother. He was the one to take me riding around in my high school years. Joe was always around. I've cleaned his house after he'd party we with the guys. I cleaned his car when they'd get sick in it. We were always close. Never be another friend like him. I'm happy I spent the day with him and Barbara. I came back after he passed. He was definitely loved and will be deeply missed by alot. Rest brother, we will meet again

“ Joe was very special to me since we met back in 1970. He was always watching over me and warning me about guys. He called me his little sister. He worked for my dad before joining the navy. My dad always planted something every summer and he chose corn this one year. One day, he brought Joe up to help me chop the weeds out of the corn. It was a long hot day but we laughed so hard because we couldn't tell the Johnson grass from the corn. My dad never planted corn again. Joe and I talked about that corn field a few months ago when I went by to visit him. Like I said he was special. I pray for Barb, Nicki and family. May God feel your hearts with peace that Joe is in a better place and riding the streets of gold.

“ Joe was my neighbor for more than 20 years. He became a special friend when my husband got sick, lifting my spirits with a call or text. He was sometimes known as the Trash Fairy, when my trash can mysteriously appeared back in place. He will definitely be missed. Beth Haven
